A simplified journalistic summary for beginners in artificial intelligence:

The new artificial intelligence ChatGPT allows everyone to ask questions and receive answers. However, to optimize its use, it is advisable to personalize the guidelines so that ChatGPT understands who you are and how you want it to react. For instance, by specifying your profession or region, you will obtain more relevant answers. It is also feasible to ask ChatGPT to self-criticize to enhance the quality of its responses. Furthermore, by providing examples for it to learn how to write in your style, you will receive more personalized answers. Finally, by specifying the length and format of the responses you desire, you can avoid overly long or general responses. By following these recommendations, you can maximize ChatGPT's effectiveness and make the most of this technology.
